ABOUT THIS RESOURCE

This Crafts Supplier Index is meant as a free-of-charge resource for all independent crafters and is not meant to be sold for profit under any circumstances or distributed on other sites without permission.

Because of the ever-changing nature of this index, some company information or may be out of date at any time or the general product list may not be accurate. If you notice any content that is not currently correct, please contact us at our e-mail address:

trythisathome@gmail.com

with the Subject Line reading “Crafts Supplier Index: Correction”. We are also adding new crafting areas and new suppliers all the time. If you are interested in adding a supplier contact, please e-mail us at the same address with the subject line reading “Crafts Supplier Index: Addition”.

Any suppliers we at Try This At Home have personally dealt with, have had a favorable transaction with, and would recommend, will be marked with a blue star. Please note this index is NOT an advertising section and we will not add this highlight graphic unless we have been paying customers of the business before; there are no exceptions to this rule.

Please also note that if you are interested in becoming a supplier as an Etsy or Ebay member, your store and/or inventory must primarily (90%+) be in one field to be listed. If you have a site that sells knitted items you’ve made and sell some of the excess yarn you have after a project, this would not allow you to be considered a supplier. All Ebay members should have at least 10 feedback at 95% positive; we prefer to list members with stores but it is not a requirement. All those currently on this list were, at the time of adding, met this requirement.

The design and content (excluding public domain and/or trademarked information, such as supplier names, addresses, websites, etc.) is copyrighted by Try This At Home.
